

WEST SCRANTON

LIFE HERE AND HEREAFTER

INSEPARABLE CONNECTION BETWEEN THE TWO.

Subject of Sermon Frenched Last Evening by Rev. Dr. Roberts, of Wilkes-Barre—A Number of Accidents Reported—Burglars in Reese's Cash Store—Jubilee Services at St. Patrick's Church—The Governor's Barber—Other News Notes and Personal.

Rev. Robert T. Roberts, D. D., pastor of the Welsh Calvinistic Methodist church, of Wilkes-Barre, occupied Rev. Hugh Davis' pulpit in the South Main Avenue Welsh Calvinistic Methodist church yesterday. In the morning the services were in Welsh, and in English in the evening. The latter service was augmented by the singing of the Simpson Male quartette, Messrs. Jones, Wright, Acker and Abrams, and the latter also sang a solo.

For his evening sermon, Dr. Roberts took his text from Ecclesiastes XIII: 7-11. "Then shall the dust be turned to the earth as it was and the spirit shall return to God who gave it," etc. The sermon was based on "The Inseparable Connection Between Life and Future Destiny." In the beginning of this chapter, the speaker said, the preacher advises young people to remember their Creator and to do that in the days of their youth. "The Creator should also be remembered before old age comes, and before death comes, when man goeth to his long home.

When we seriously dwell on this subject, Dr. Roberts said, it suggests three things: First—Are we to live forever? Second—Is there any connection between the life in this world and the nature of the character of our destiny in the world to come? Third—The standpoints of possibility, probability and certainty in this question.

Life today has much to do with the world that is to come, for we all are to be judged according to our deeds. We must all appear before the judgment seat, that every one may receive the things done in the body, whether it be good or bad. The Christian doctrine shows the responsibility resting on us as human beings.

In this life we must establish a character before we can enter the life hereafter. How can we solve correctly this great problem? There is only one way to solve it, only one act sufficient to settle this tremendous question. We all know what that is.

Believe in the Lord Jesus Christ and thou shalt be saved. The difficulty in understanding is not with the Gospel, but with the people. Ask God for that faith that will bring you into that vital union with Jesus Christ.

Resolutions of Condolence.

Whereas, It has pleased Almighty God in His infinite wisdom to remove from our midst our worthy and esteemed brother and fellow-workman, Evan P. Davies; and

Whereas, The intimate relation held during the period of seven years as mine foreman in the Tripp slope and at the Diamond, and as treasurer of the fund, it is fitting that we record our appreciation of him; therefore be it Resolved, That the genial disposition, wisdom and ability which he exercised and manifested in our midst as mine foreman for nearly seven years, will be held in grateful remembrance.

Resolved, That the cheerful readiness and benevolent spirit he always displayed in the noble service for the benefit of this fund as its treasurer, since it was organized, therefore his sudden removal leaves a vacancy and loss that will be deeply realized by the members of the organization.

Resolved, That we tender our deep sympathy to the afflicted family in their loss of an affectionate husband and kind father, and we express our earnest hope that even so great a bereavement may be overruled for their good.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be published in the daily papers of the city, and that a copy be sent to the wife of our bereaved brother.

A pane of glass was broken and the window fastener unhooked.

A similar robbery was reported to the police by G. B. Roma, an Italian, who keeps a small store at 232 South Main avenue. A few cigars, hammers, and pennies were taken. The work was evidently by the same crowd, who are now under police surveillance.

LUTHERAN FOREIGN MISSIONS

It is not our purpose here to speak of early missionary operations in this country—the Swedish Lutherans on the Delaware in Pennsylvania, the Dutch Lutherans in New York, the German Lutherans in Pennsylvania, New York, Maryland and Georgia, or the work among the Delaware, Chippewa, Onondaga, Apache, Cheyenne and other Indian tribes.

Besides the fields of labor we have already particularly noted, where Lutheran missionaries are employed, our church is carrying on mission work in South America, Australia, New Guinea, New Zealand, Madagascar, Alaska, Lapland, Burma, Sumatra, Borneo, Palestine, Syria, Persia, Japan, Abyssinia and Egypt. A Lutheran pastor is at work in Bethlehem, where Christ was born; a German Lutheran pastor and congregation are pushing their work in Jerusalem itself; and there are a dozen congregations in neighboring towns provided with German Lutheran pastors.

To sum up: There are six American Lutheran missionary societies, twenty-four European Lutheran and twelve European Lutheran union societies engaged in foreign missions. They support 2,000 stations, with some 700 ordained missionaries and 5,000 native lay helpers. They report 300,000 converts. They carry on 1,000 schools, having upwards of 100,000 pupils.
